HONGRONG, JULY BTR. 1871.

Our commercial readers have no doubt perused, with interest some rather amusing and cutting letters which appeared in a Northern paper on the subject of paying commission to Brokers for engaging freight. The two correspondents inveigh strongly against the practice, looking at it from a 'Consignees' point of view, and declaring that it is abomihable that brokers should "earn a pittance by wandering round the Settlement during the per ambulator; the leather belt was broken, and Ten Season, and haunting the various Tea the child fellout, and cried. I was standing close "Rooms where it is likely buying may be going on, ready to pounce on a parcel that may be booked,"-and for which service they charge the Consignee 11 per cent. The complaint that is made is not so much that the commission is too high but that brokers should be employed at all to do what could easily be accomplished by the shippers of the Tea swellen-"she wanted to get away, and be purwriting themselves to the Consignees, and sued me." First defendant said "I found that having their freight booked without the in- was in the kitchen, naked, and the cook pourtervention of the Broker. No doubt this ing water over her; I heat her, but not with a seems very rational, but it is soldow that a system of this nature goes on for a series of years, unless it has a proper raison d'être. A, the sanguine Tea buyer, purchases his water over her. She abused me, and I bit her Congous and Souchongs, after duly ascertaining that they have the necessary "little Senior Police Magistrate, and examination of on" flavour, and B, the Consignee, is meantime waiting in patient expectation for a offence, the law might have, and would have, sufficient number of chops to fill up the steamer "Dashaway," which is going to do the without any option or mention of a pountary journey via the Suez Canal, in a little less case, this considering his situation would than any time you may choose to mention. be certain rain. Second defendant was ordered to pay a fine of ped in the "Dashaway," in place of in the $20; in default one month's imprisonment. "Green Eyed Monster," which is being loaded by Consigned C. By the way, C is a most once would be one for discharge, as he objectionable man; nobody knows how he could well understand how aggravating manages to get freight when other people it was to parents to find a child neglected, and "cannot-no doubt, by some shuffling trick, perambulator; but second defendant bad the such as cutting under the "regular" rates." Any how, if B only knew exactly when every parcel of Tea was bought in the Settlement, just as if she was a cannibal. During the he would be able to make short work of whole of his experience at the Magistracy be loading his steamer, because, so soon as he heard that the parcels were settled, he would a country professing Christianity could have ask the purchaser to put them on board his been guilty of such conduct. The service thing the Chinese are clever. His Worship rewhich a broker performs in engaging freight marked, in continuation, that it was needless to is mainly that of equalizing the chances of certain that he would never have dared to each Consignee, by placing every one who is strike a European in such manner, nor yet willing to employ him, in possession of the the meanest coolie who could have paid necessary information as to the carge upon by and see the second defendant, his own the market; and though it may seem very wife, fasten on her with her teeth, why it was plausible to say that the freight would be simply the most cowardly thing he had ever engaged equally well without the Broker's trate. intervention, the truth is, that in many cases at Broker renders. Whether the charge of 14 per cent. is, or is not, too high; is question fairly open to debate. As compared with the Consigner's commission of 5 per cent. it would appear to be rather too much, and we believe that many brokers have engaged freight at a lower rate of commission, and would doubtless be willing to do so again. Probably one per cent, would be a fair remuneration, and this sum ought not to be objected to by the owners of the vessel who are the parties most interested in and getting drank too often, obliging witness opportunities being afforded for the ship's to report him. Defendant having stated that obtaining the best rates of freight in the be did not believe that he had used the pistel, • shortest possible time.

POLICE INTELLIGENCE. 7th July. BEFORE J. RUSSELL, Esq.

DENTAL WEAPONS. Regina by Wong-Aleen summoned Thomas McBean, bailiff of the Summary Jurisdiction Court, and Candida, his wife, for having nalawfully assaulted and beaten the complainant.

Wong-Aleen stated ! I have been Amab in the defendant's service since 20 days; about 9 p.m. of the 5th, I was engaged in drawing the perambulator, the child objected, and wanted the cook; I permitted the cook; the child is about two years of an age. It was the elder sister of the child who would not allow me to drive the to at the time; eccond defendant's mother came out and scolded me, telling me to go nway; second defendant told me also to leave. I said " I will leave; but you must pay me my wages." First defendant then atruck me with a horsewhip on the back; the second delendant also bit me on the arm,"-bite exhibited and also the weals on the woman's thigh and back-the latter were across the shoulder blades and onthe waist, the last being much discoloured and the complinant was neglecting my child and > THEEATENING TO SHOOT. John Pourson, engineer of Polifolum, was fined £5, in default, one month's imprisonment, for pointing a revolver at Chan-a-look, a Government contractor at the water works, while in a state of drunkenness. Complainant averred that this occasion, (the 6th instant, at 5 p.m.), was not the first on which he had been threatened death by defendant. According to the evidence of Mr. Thomas Kydd, in charge of the reservoir, on being questioned by the bench, it appeared that defendant, who has been engineer in charge of the machinery since November, 1869, had lasterly been drinking and his boy would be able to state the fact, Wong-n-sam was declared, and said that defendant always, kept a londed pistol below his bed. which statement Sam Chung was arrested. On the trip down from Dutch Flat the prisoner told witness that Ah Fong, the eighr man, "fooley him too muchee."

Sam Chung, the complainant in this case, testified that he has been living here five years, and keeps a wash-house on Pacific street, below Kenrny; that about four weeks since, between one and two o'clock at night; he was arrested on a charge of robbery; about ten minutes previous he saw Ah Fong, the eight man, pass through his place, go into the street and blow n whistle. He had been to the theatre that night, returned home about one o'clock and commenced to look over some accounts. He had not seen Ah Kim that night until he (witness) was arrested; did not take any money. or tie Ah Kim, nor did he see any other person do anything to him.

The further hearing of the case has been con-tinued until next Wednesday. After this is disposed of, the case of Ah Fong, the eight man, for subornation of perjury, will be taken up.by foreign merchant to Chun-cheong-tai. Alla, May 20.

THE LATE EARL OF ABERDEEN. A few months ago it was stated, on the authority of an American nowspaper, the Boston Weakly Traveller, that George Hamilton Gordon, third Earl of Aberdeen, had been drowned at sea while salling as chief mate of the schooner Hera, under the ssaumed name of on the 21st of January, 1870, bound for Melbonine, with the late Earl on byard. She has now arrived at Halifax, Nova Scotia, on her return voyage, and the newspaper referred to has obtained from those on board the following additional particulars relative to the accidept :- "The Hera had a glorious run off the Gulf Stream when the wind died away into a AMBRICAN DRILLS, 30 yards slight air from the northward, leaving . a. tremendous swell. Tremendous rollers sont GREY T-CLOTHE, 34 yds & 83 in. 7 lbs., the wessel almost rails under, and as the sails Drap Sportsp Smill Smill Series Smill S were being taken in the gaff flew from side to Dynn Brocker Do. the boom), was thrown from the deck and orked overboard. Captain Kent immediately saw him; and with his own hands threw him a rope, while the men hove planks towards him at the same time. He ross upon the crest of a huge wave, but raised no cry for help; and, as the vessel had little or no way through the water, there seemed a chance of saving him. There was just moonlight enough to make the scene visible. A bont was cleared Captain Kent kept his eye on him and saw him still float full two minutes, but he was beyond the reach of the rope and the planks, and soon disappeared amid the waves. The sea was too rough to attempt to launch the boat, and he was left to perish. There was no help for t. This was at 4 a.m. on the 27th of January. 1870. It is supposed that he was stronged by striking something when he was jorked from the deck; otherwise, being an expert swimmer, he could easily have kept himself affoat, thrown off his heavy clothing, struck out for the vessel, and been saved. Captain Kent bad no idea that his mate was other than he had represented himself. He attended to his duties prompty, and was master of all he undertook. The ogbook, always kept by the mate, was written up to the noon preceding his death, and was his last record. What could have induced a man of such personal ability and high social rank to sink all and play the part of a sailor is unknown. If he refused to hear from his friends, he kept them informed of his own principal movements, and it was only when they censed to hear from him that they became anxious for his safety. The family sent his tutor, the Rev. Mr. Alexander, to this country, who traced him to the Hera, and then heard of his death. His youngest brother, John Campbell Gordon, then became his successor, and took legal measures to ascertain the truth of his death. A commission, composed of Mr. Henry Smith, of Edinburgh, Commissioner of the Court of Chancery in Scotland, and Mr. Samuel Gilfillan M'Laren, representing Mesers. Tods, Murray, and Jamieson, writers to the Siguet, Edinburgh, and agents of the Aberdeen family, Winnow Grass per box. 3.50 a. 3.45 came to this country; and, after a careful collection of testimony, have established the fact that George H. Usborne and the Eurl of Aberdeen were identical. The last link in the chain of testimony has been furnished them by Captain Kent, of the schooner Hera, who saw him perish. But among his effects there was not found a single scrap of writing to show that he was the Earl of Aberdeen. Captain Kent, however, bud a small picture of him, which fully confirmed all the other testimony. It is now proved beyond a doubt that George H. Osborne and the late Earl of Aberdeen were "The same person. The expense of collecting the evidence to establish this important fact will probably exceed $100,000 in gold. He was 27 years of age at the time of his death. In life he had imbibed the sailor's idea that a man

Recently a young gentleman met in the street one of our oldest residents, and after the usual How-d've do's, their conversation turned inevitably to the hot weather. The youth, however, was above the vulgar slaug of "beastly climate," "infernal hole," &c.; indeed, as his elderly friend evinced a certain gravity in speaking of the heat, he objectionally stood up for the climate of Shaughai, using with great fluency a number of pleas in mitigation, and ending with the following eloquent peroration: "The fact too much and they drink too much, they sleep too much, and they get sick and die, and them they write home to their friends and say it was all cwing to the climate!" Atl top new word which the Chinese have of late years been com-THE interest and responsibility of Mr polled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in molence generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extense. Each and every word in fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive patters, Both the Court and Punti pronumerations are given, the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typegraphy displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond n the size of body, thereby effecting a vaci economy of space, achieving a clearness no previously attained, and dispensing with those von Bergen from this day, under my own vast margins and vacant spaces which have beretofore characterized Chinese publications. The scope of the work is so great, and its otilitarian purposes so complete, that a reforence to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate efectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans tesiding in China, and to the nativer themselves it explains subjects fully, with which very few in-

Death of Auber-We regret to annunce the death, on 18th May, of Daniel François Esprit Auber, the Frenchman who gave to the stage the operas of "Musaniello" and "Fra Diavolo." He was born on the 29th January, 1782. He was the con of a wealthy morehant, and first saw the light at Caen, during a journey which his parente, who were inhabitants of Paris, were making in Normandy. He gave proofs of his musical genius at an early age, and was instructed in the elements of music by Ladurner, to such appedy effect that, while still a youth, he composed several romances, which were greatly admired by persons of conspicuous taste. The reputation of the illustrious composer with founded with " La Bergere Chatelaine," a comio | 1 9701 ' opera in three acts, played in the year 1820, by which time Auber was thirty-eight years old He won a positive and enduring glory by his "Muette de Portici," which must, beyond all question, be accounted his chef-d'auvre. M Auber wrote an overture for the International Exhibition of London in 1862, and he has more recently shown that the freshness of his genius, if tardy in its first manifestations, was lasting per Cent (30%) of the Profits will be returned to the end. The success of." Le Premier Jour de Bonheur" seems an affair of yesterday.

Oleographs. Mesers. Sampson Low, Son, and Mareton bave recently introduced to the English public a remarkable series of fac-similes of original oil paintings which deserve the attention of all who are interested in art. Having changed our apparel, away we went again at railway speed to our dinner party. The first person we met on entering was a countryman of mine, Mr. Grant. We had often heard of the one-legged Englishman, and it may by imagined how delighted we were at last to be able to converse freely with some one beside ourselves, as although anything but weary of each other, we had long are exhausted our mutual stock of conversation. . . A Cossack military band discoursed lively airs during the meal. Alas my appetite had somewhat faded with the continual application to the buffet I had gone through in the afternoon. It is very strong, being no doubt a peculiar brew made to suit the climate, as I bave hever tasted its like in England. At the conclusion, of dinner, following the lead of our host, we all rose, and being all supplied with champague, which in Russia is generally drank after dinner and not during dinner, we drank to the health of the hostess. We then marched round the table towards the ladies' room, where we shook bands with the host and the hostess, everyone saying something, but not knowing Russian we contented ourselves with the shake of the hand. We then again left, being invited to the hall at eight. . . At eight c'clock we found ourselves at the ball, and there were lote of girls, some good-looking and very rich, but unfortunately few who could speak any other language than their own-Russian.
